Language & Culture Education Center
SeoKyeong University

Director's Greeting

“Introducing the new Language & Culture Center of SeoKyeong University.”

Since opening in 1947, SeoKyeong University has been striving to train students through a student-centered and practical educational philosophy.

As society has become increasingly interconnected and globalized, our university is striving to become a prestigious university to train leaders who can one day play an active role on the diverse world stage, leading cooperation between nations and universities.

To this point we have already succeeded in offering joint degree, student exchange programs with sister schools in the United States, Britain, Japan, China, Russia, and Taiwan. In order to accommodate the many foreign students that are studying now at SeoKyeong University and in the future, we are establishing the Language & Culture Center this year.

The new Language & Culture Center of SeoKyeong University offers professional faculty, a communications center excellent training facilities, and a variety of training programs. In addition, all members of the Language & Culture Center will be equipped to respond flexibly to changes in a rapidly changing society.

We are pleased to be able to offer competitive transformation, character building, and creative development to our international students now alongside of our Korean students.

I wish you all the best in your pursuit of your dreams onto the world stage or wherever they may lead.

Sincerely,

Goo Ja Ok

Director of the Language & Culture Center of SeoKyeong University
